Have you read the Bard Quest post? That gives an overview of what sort of path a Bard of Void would be very likely to experience. The key things to remember are: a Bard of Void may superficially resemble a Light player pretty strongly (specifically a Maid of Light), depending on age, self-awareness, and the point they are at in their natural development, but what is motivating them isn't the ...

The Kensington Runestone is a 202-pound (92 kg) slab of greywacke covered in runes on its face and side. A Swedish immigrant, Olof Ohman, reported that he discovered it in 1898 in the largely rural township of Solem, Douglas County, Minnesota, and named it after the nearest settlement, Kensington.. The inscription purports to be a record left behind by Scandinavian explorers in the 14th ...

It's just a matter of defining your 'zero point'. In a real, actual gauge, pressure is measured relative to the atmospheric pressure. If there was 1 atmosphere of pressure inside a container (so it's the same pressure inside the container as it is outside it), the gauge will not read 1 atm, but rather 0 atm, as the pressure inside the container would just be the same as the pressure outside.

This is addressed somewhat in user166390's answer. Say you have a natural join between Customers and Employees, joining on EmployeeID. Employees also has a ManagerID field. Everything's fine. Then, some day, someone adds a ManagerID field to the Customers table. Your join will not break (that would be a mercy), instead it will now include a second field, and work incorrectly.

Nuclear terrorism refers to any person or persons who detonate a nuclear weapon in an act of terrorism (meaning illegal or immoral use of violence for a political or religious cause). Some definitions of nuclear terrorism include the sabotage of a nuclear facility and/or the detonation of a radiological device, colloquially termed a dirty bomb, but consensus is lacking.

The expression appears to be American. Frontiersman and Congressman, Davy Crockett (the "King of the Wild Frontier"), used the expression in his book, An Account of Col. Crockett's Tour to the North and Down East (1835). The two earliest examples I could find are both from the same magazine in 1823, and suggest that the expression had already moved into idiomatic use by that time.

The "no 757" story has been effective at discrediting 9/11 skepticism, especially in the DC area. It is not a coincidence that the defenders of the official "surprise attack" claim focus mostly on the "no plane at the Pentagon" story in their quest to discredit 9/11 skeptics.
