A personal watercraft (PWC), also called water scooter, and comically a boatercycle, is a recreational watercraft that the rider sits or stands on, rather than inside of, as in a boat. PWCs have two style categories, first and most popular being a runabout or "sit down" where the rider uses the watercraft mainly sitting down, and the watercraft typically holds two or more people.

Class A should define the methods it's going to call (probably as abstract ones, and A should be an abstract class, per Paul Haahr's excellent guide); B can (in fact to be concrete MUST, if the method are abstract) override those methods. Now, calls to those methods from other methods in A, when happening in an instance of class B, go to B's overrides.
